President's Message

Dear Readers,

What better time than around Thanksgiving to reflect upon the things for which we are grateful.

I genuinely appreciate the interaction I share with our society volunteers who have now become firm friends. Whilst we all desire to help less fortunate animals receive the veterinary care they need, it's the generous donations, in the form of gifts of love, memberships and bequests, that enables us to do so. Therefore, donors, please accept my deep gratitude for your kindness and for trusting us to use your funds wisely and to the fullest extent that's possible.

Also, I'm most thankful for the many veterinarians and their staff members who are willing to work with us in order to help pets receive the treatment they require. Accepting our pledges places an additional burden upon them by increasing their work load: so my heartfelt thanks go to them for "going that extra mile."

Lastly, but by no means least, my thanks go to our Pet Assisted therapy volunteers and their wonderful dogs who brighten the day for the folks living in two local, residential homes when we visit each month. Their dedication is admirable and truly appreciated.

Upon reflection, I consider myself extremely fortunate to have the opportunity to work with so many compassionate people and to be doing a job that I enjoy so much. How lucky can one get?

Kindest regards, Vivien Frankland

Holiday Food & Other Hazards

The holidays are a time of feasts and sweet treats. It's tempting to share with pets, but don't... chocolate contains theobromine, which may be fatal. Unsweetened baking chocolate contains the highest concentration of this chemical. Bones, cooked and raw, even large ones, fragment and may cause choking or perforate intestines. Grapes & raisins, even in small amounts may cause kidney failure in dogs. Liquor can be fatal and coffee & tea may cause damage to digestive, urinary or nervous systems. Fatty and/or fried foods can cause gastric upset, or pancreatitis (inflammation of the pancreas), which requires immediate veterinary care.

Cookies, cake or any baked goods can cause gastric upset, sometimes severe.

Seek veterinary care immediately if your pet is vomiting, has diarrhea and you suspect non-pet foods were ingested.

Holiday Food & Other Hazards

Tinsel, Trees & Lights: keep fallen decorations picked-up. Swallowing tinsel can cause choking and internal obstruction; broken ornaments can cut delicate paws.

Water placed in the Christmas tree stand, which is often treated with sugar-based preservatives, may attract pets. Left for days or weeks, this water may develop harmful bacteria. Chewing on electrical cords may cause burns, or even death by electrocution. Unplug trees when you are not home, use pet-safe cords or treat cords with a deterrent spray.

Harmful if swallowed: Poinsettia plant is toxic. Keep antifreeze out of reach and clean up drops

immediately and completely.

Antifreeze is highly toxic and dogs especially are attracted to its scent.

Keep food gifts out of reach and not under the tree. Pets are attracted to heat and flame. Burn candles away from pets and secure the fireplace when in use.

Xylitol, a sugar alcohol sweetener, causes low blood sugar and liver failure in dogs — if not treated quickly by a veterinarian, ingesting Xylitol can be fatal. Xylitol is commonly used to sweeten sugar-free candy and gum, but also may be found in unexpected products, including dog fav treat, peanut butter.

This list is incomplete and accurate to the best of our knowledge. Ask your veterinarian for more information to help keep your pets safe and healthy.

Deogia, a rescue Vizsla/Rhodesian Ridgeback-mix needed hip joint surgery. Pledge $325

Chanel, an 8-year-old female Chihuahua developed pyometra and needed immediate surgery. Pledge $100 for aftercare.

Lily, a Maltese needed surgery to remove a small growth from her ear. Pledge $225

Rainbow, a cat needed surgery to remove a tumor from her tail. Pledge $150

Kila, a 9-year-old female German Shepherd dog developed pyometra and needed immediate surgery. Pledge $300

Penny, a Chihuahua needed tests and medication to control seizures. Pledge $150

Coco, a Poodle suffering seizures and not eating needed diagnostic tests and medication. Pledge $225

Cookies & Cream were treated for Giardia, which is a microscopic parasite that lives in the intestines of dogs (and other animals, including cats and humans), and causes severe gastrointestinal disease. Pledge $300

Arthur suffered from a severe ear infection. Pledge $225.

Chester, a Maltese/Poodle-mix needed vet care to remove a foxtail from his ear and medication to treat an ear infection. Pledge $150

Zoe, a Shih tzu needed knee surgery. Pledge $200

Ease the Cost of Vet Care

Try to set aside a small amount of cash monthly or weekly in your own pet care fund. Even a small amount will help when your pet needs to visit the vet.

Helpline Calls

Many of the pets whose guardians call our Helpline looking for financial aid for veterinary care include the need for dental care and surgery to remove an intestinal obstruction.

Oral care is an important part of overall good health. Speak with your vet about your pet's oral care, which may help prevent infection and the need for urgent veterinary intervention.

Dogs of all ages love to play and sometimes items intended for humans end up as a chew toy if left on the floor. Remember to keep items picked up and off the floor to help prevent your pet from ingesting something that could cause obstruction and the need for expensive emergency life-saving surgery.

Help sick and injured pets even after you're gone. Please consider putting the SVHS in your Will or Trust.

What's the difference between a Pledge and a Vet Grant?

At the end of each medical aid recipient listed, a Pledge or Vet Grant dollar amount is noted. The SVHS offers a Veterinary Grant Program that provides $500 to each of the first 15 area vets who register annually. Program vets may use the grant, at their discretion, to help one pet or several. Requests for Vet Grant funds are made by the vets on behalf of their clients. Conversely, Pledges are offered to individuals who call our Helpline asking for financial aid. Like Vet Grants, Pledges are paid directly to veterinarians, not as a reimbursement to individuals.

Just a reminder when you are adopting a pet, to take the time to meet the scared ones,
the shy ones, the ones that don't stick out to you,
the ones with the boring colors or missing limbs, the older ones, the frail ones. They have not given up. They just need you.
And maybe you just need them too.
